Next Month's Bride Given Shower

W. I. Conference Monday, Sept. 27

In honor of Miss Lillian Watkins, bride elect of next month, Mrs. C. McLean entertained very charmingly at a shower on Monday evening. The feature of the evening was a mock wedding which afforded much amusement to the guests. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mrs. Hummel, the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, Mrs. Hoskins (who forgot and kept his hat on). The bride (Miss Watkins) was charmingly gowned in white lace, a relic of Queen Elizabeth, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bridesmaid, Mrs. C. Williamson, attired in old rose with pock bonnet to match and rolled stockings, created quite a sensation. The groom, Mr. G. Campbell, both attired in tight fitting clothes. The clergyman, Mr. Collins, officiated over the nuptials. During the signing of the register the bridegroom and the bride's father danced the Charleston. Immediately after the ceremony the bride was presented with a daintily decorated basket containing many beautiful gifts. A dainty lunch brought to a close a very enjoyable evening, and all left wishing Lillian happiness in her new venture.

The Little Bow Constituency Conference of the Alberta Women's Institute will be held in the United church, Champion, on Monday, September 27. Miss McMillan, director of Women's Home Bureau Service, Edmonton; Mrs. A. Lynch-Staunton, district director, Lundbreck, and Mrs. J. N. Beaubier, past provincial president, will address the meeting. The conference will open at 9:30 a.m. with Mrs. F. C. Alcock, constituency convenor, in the chair.

Stolen Goods Found in Calgary

The Calgary Herald of Friday afternoon contained the news that the police had picked up two club bags at St. George's Island, Calgary, and the description of the contents tallied exactly with the list of goods taken from F. J. Clapp's store on Wednesday night. The thieves, however, were not located, having either abandoned their booty or have become aware of the fact that their return was being watched for. The recovery of the goods will relieve Mr. Clapp of a loss estimated at $150.

The first practice for the revival of "The Great Impersonation" by the Champion Dramatic Society was called off Tuesday night, but owing to the inability of several members of the cast to be present, was postponed. The new cast of characters is complete and it is anticipated but a short time will elapse before the play is ready for production.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Concluding a paean of victory in its last issue, the U.F.A. says:

"The enlarged U. F. A. group will go to Ottawa as a solid unit, independent of any political party whatsoever, but willing and anxious to co-operate as a group with all other groups in the House, in the interests of sound legislation. Numerically the third largest distinctive group in the House, they constitute, we believe, a powerful force in the councils of the nation."

To achieve the third largest group the U. F. A. adds Miss McPhail to the eleven members elected in Alberta, making a total of twelve in all. Just when Miss McPhail agreed to be guided by the Alberta farmers' organization, as have the other eleven, is not made public. Even conceding this addition to their ranks it is hard to see where the "poised and force" is to be found. In the last parliament the U. F. A. members seemed to have dissatisfied opinions. If they have surrendered themselves to the control of the organization they may act as a unit in the future, but their achievements will hardly reach the height suggested by their organ. Eleven dummy members, acting for the U. F. A. executive, will never go very far.

Robert Fork, leader of the Progressives in the last parliament, now in the Liberal-Progressive column, is suggested as the possible minister of agriculture in the new cabinet. If this rumor is confirmed there will be no room for criticism of the appointment on the ground that Mr. Fork knows nothing about agriculture. On the contrary he is an outstanding factor in the district in which he lives.

It is claimed that wheat cut with a combine by B. Hummen, at Carmangay, while showing many green grains when first delivered to the elevator after lying in the bin for fifteen days was shipped out in first class condition. Perhaps the combine will find a large place in our harvesting operations in the future.

From one end of the continent to the other the weather has been erratic and a tremendous amount of damage to crops and other property has occurred. We have our troubles here but are evidently as well off as anyone, unless it be parts of Saskatchewan, where there has been practically no delay in threshing operations.

Many thefts have occurred at different points in the province in the period during which the harvesters have been involuntarily idle owing to the wet weather. The delinquents have mostly been youths who, unable to endure lying around broke, turned their attention to shop breaking for relief. The only wonder is that there has not been more of this sort of thing.

A very noticeable feature of the late election was the tremendous majorities achieved by the supporters of the candidates. It is only a few years ago that a majority of 500 was considered large. Now, to be outstanding, nearer 5,000 is required.

Never before have there been so many appeals through the press that, following the election campaign, we should forget parties for the next five years and, working as Canadians, seek to develop this great country to the fullest. We do not know of any better advice which could be disseminated throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion.—Lethbridge Herald.

Attorney General Lymburn and Hon. Alex Ross are making a tour of the oil fields of Oklahoma and Texas to acquire knowledge as to the practical and legal questions that may arise in connection with the oil fields in this province, the opinion being expressed that oil may become the greatest industry in the province. The next thing we will require will be an oil group in the legislature.

Prediction of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District is imminent to reach $2,000,000 this year. While this will not make the district a paying proposition it is a long step towards this most desired result. It should be but a few years at the present rate of progress until this will have been achieved.

A feature of the election that has not been commented upon to any great extent, but is very important, is that practically every candidate who had been mixed up in shady transactions was eliminated by the electors. We will come out all right in Canada yet.

The hail rate this year is larger than last because of the damage done by hail. It some person could make an intensive study of hail, finding out what it is all about, he would do a service to the community. Not that hail could be prevented, but it would be well if understood—Albertan.

But in spite of the difficulties which the League has constantly had to face, it still survives, is gradually building up a record of achievement, and the adhesion of Germany gives promise of wider and more effective co-operation amongst the nations and of the permanence of the League.—Winnipeg Free Press.

What Trade Treaties Mean To Canada

The intent and the sheeting in over, the ballots have been cast and counted, and the standing of the two major political parties in the House of Commons has been reversed. Whereas in the last short-lived Parliament the Conservatives held 116 seats and constituted the largest group, in the new Parliament, Liberals have, at the time of writing, 118 seats and are the largest group. In addition there are 11 Liberal-Progressives elected pledged to the Conservative party.

In other words, in the new Parliament, unlike the old, there is a clear majority of members returned in support of one particular leader and who accepted the nomination at the hands of conventions of the Liberal party. That is, the composition of the new House of Commons makes possible a more stable and effective government.

From year to year, the change in power of the Liberal and Liberal-Progressives will support in support of one particular leader and who accepted the nomination at the hands of conventions of the Liberal party.

Now that the battle is over, and the general verdict of the electors obtained, even those who would have preferred to see Mr. Meighen and his party victorious will find a degree of national gratification in the fact that the result will have fairly decided the stalemate which has prevailed for so long in the Canadian government. It is a result which is welcome.

It is what both the major political parties desired and asked for, and it has been demonstrated a majority of the constituents wanted.

And now to business. Let everybody settle down to the task of assisting Canada to overtake such groups as may have been lost owing to the unsuccesses of the nation in the past and grasp the splendid opportunity which now exists to do so.

In this column last week the view was expressed that whatever party was placed in power it should devote its energies to the further promotion of the policy of negotiating trade treaties with other countries, and particularly with all other sister nations within the Empire, and thus open to Canadian products and manufacturers larger and more profitable markets. We now desire to repeat and to emphasize that declaration, and to add written a word or two concerning the Canadian workers.

On the day of the election a large display advertisement—not of political character—was inserted in Canadian papers by one of the largest automobile manufacturing concerns in the Dominion. It was headed: "The Motorists Called By Experts As The Best Value Received." It was pointed out that the cost of the eight months' service in the export business that reduction in price had been made possible in Canada, because of the enormously greater volume of production and consequent increase in efficiency and in lower production costs. It was not a traitor shouting out competition which had brought increased prosperity to this firm, but the opening of new and wider markets abroad through the opening up of foreign countries, and leading to greater production of materials in Canada, and the employment of many hundreds more of Canadian workers.

More evidence of a similar nature is found in an article by the chairman of the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association who gives the long list of benefits derived from the opening up of Canada into the greatly increasing treaty with Australia, and which he believes may mean the sale of a $70,000,000 market for this country. This Manufacturers' Association official makes a strong plea for a continuation of this policy of negotiating trade treaties, and above all, that a stop be put to the making of a political party issue.

* * * * * And perhaps a sum regular should be carefully examined and fully discussed by Parliament and the people of Canada, but when they have been approved and put into effect the efforts of petty politicians to try and create party capital against the Government of the day by seeking to arouse one set of people against the treaty because of some one particular item in it, and another set because of some other item, is a waste of time and of viewing the treaty in all its aspects.

Canada produces a surplus of nearly everything rated in that country. It is proper to prouer, grow greater, and employment found for an ever increasing number of people; that surplus must be profitably disposed of in world markets. In order to obtain entry into those markets on the most advantageous terms, Canada must offer some concessions in return. That is only business, and the same principles must govern in international business as in private and domestic business relations.

Canada Is Looking For Wheat Honors

Saskatchewan Man Is Competing In Show At Chicago

In commenting on the announcement that J. C. Mitchell, of Baldoche, Saskatchewan, will compete this year for wheat-growing honors at Chicago, the New York Sun says:

Mitchell supplied to the world its champion wheat grower last year, and the same principles must govern in international business relations.

When L. P. Yates, of Flintridge, in that state, captured the title at the International Grains, Hay and Stock Show in Chicago, it was thought that he would be tried when he was tried in the morning.

PARLIAMENT MAY CONVENE ABOUT NOVEMBER 20

Opposes—While no official statement since the election has been forthcoming from Premier King, popular favors the likelihood of the sixteenth parliament convening about November 20. In this eventuality, the house, after acquiring parliamentary authority for the new session, would be in session for a month, while probably have a long adjournment for Christmas. A late fall session it is also believed, would mean an endeavor to conclude the regular business of the session.

Following the general election last fall, it took from four to slightly over six weeks to have all election returns received, with the exception of Peace River, which was delayed by a week.

In time required by the election, while members of the new King cabinet, the writs were returned last year within from three to four weeks after the election. For this reason, it is believed, will commence again and returned in time for the selected ministers in time to go to parliament to convene about November 20.

A "dinner meeting" for Mr. King is scheduled to be held by the party at approximately three-quarters of those who held portfolios in his former government will be back again. For the most part it is assumed they will occupy their old offices.

Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King, former minister of national defense, has announced his retirement from politics, and the likelihood is that he will be appointed to the vacant commissionership for Nova Scotia.

Wants Seat On League

Claim Is Being Pressed By Irish Free State

General.—A strong effort is developing in the league for the ninth non-permanent seat on the council which was originally considered as safe for Portugal.

Other popular candidates are Prince of Wales, or the Baltic states, supported by some of the powers in the hope of retaining the valuable services of Premier Benes on the council, as well as Ireland.

Other delegations insist that the Irish Free State, on behalf of the dominions' delegates that in spite of their decision not to demand a seat on the council, Ireland is a candidate for the place and that she is best serving the interests of the dominions as a whole by pressing her claim.

In view of this statement, Sir George Foster has amended his declaration that none of the dominions were candidates for the ninth place, making his exception on behalf of Ireland.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody good. The local coal mines are busy owing to the wintry weather, in fact some of the mines report being over-run with orders.

This has been a very trying fall for everybody. The suggestion that the earliest possible opportunity should be used to liquidate money obligations should meet with approval, because the convenience and courtesy extended is well worthy of this reward.

The editor is in a position to state that sliding down the station steps is both undignified and dangerous for persons of mature years. The only thing that would justify any one else in the aged class trying it would be a half formed desire to com-

Threshers Again
Looking Forward

Threshers who had hoped to begin work on Wednesday are still waiting patiently for the next possible chance to begin threshing looming in the future. Tuesday and Wednesday supplied a snowstorm that would have been dignified in January, and as a consequence threshing has been delayed for several days further.

However the storm seems to be over and after the wintry weather experienced, a splendid tall is anticipated if it doesn't rain or snow any more. The latest weather is not expected to add materially to the damage already suffered.
